SUPERIOR DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION

Expertly crafted for enduring style and performance, Gentek Rainware Systems provide essential water drainage and weather protection for your home. The heavy-duty aluminum construction features a premium polyester finish that will maintain its beautiful appearance despite exposure to harsh weather.

Season after season, the gutters, downspouts and other rainware components perform an important job: they capture the rainwater running off your roof to prevent it from infiltrating your home. A properly installed rainware system effectively channels this water to also avoid damaging other areas such as decking, landscaping, soil and concrete.

CUSTOMIZED FOR YOUR HOME

Every home has specific climate challenges that should be factored into the rainware structure. With a combination of gutters, elbows, downspouts and miters, your professional installer can create a complete rainware system customized for your home that collects water runoff from the roof and channels it away from the foundation, landscaping and other surroundings. Brackets, hangers and clips firmly connect all components and secure the system in place.

ON-SITE FABRICATION

Gutters fabricated at the job site from Gentek premium gutter coil provide superior form, fit and functionality. The high-performance coil is corrosion-resistant and features a finished side coated with a durable, baked-on polyester coating that resists dirt and stains from environmental elements.

Pre-formed downspouts, elbows, miters and other accessories also are manufactured in matching colors from this same premium coil, while the hangers and utility components are mill-finished metal. From end to end, the complete system is built weather-tough for lasting quality and value.
